Brentwood Free School District District-Wide School Safety Plan

I. Introduction:

Districts are required by the New York State Department of Education to develop a comprehensive district-wide safety plan that is designed to prevent or minimize the effects of serious violent incidents and to facilitate the coordination of the district with local and county resources in the event of such incidents or emergencies. The district-wide plan is responsive to the needs of all schools within the district and is consistent with the more detailed emergency response plans required at every school building.

Every year the district shall appoint members to the district safety team. Members of this team should include, but not be limited to, representatives of teachers, administrators, school safety and other school personnel, community members, and other local first responders. The district safety committee will be charged with developing the district's safety plan and presenting to the community for an annual public hearing. The approved district safety plan will be posted on the district's website and made available to local emergency agencies.

The District-wide safety plan shall be directly linked to the individual Building-level Emergency Response Plans for each school building. Protocols reflected in the District-wide School Safety Plan will guide the development and implementation of individual Building-level Emergency Response Plans.

X. Emergency Response Protocol: Dealing with Trauma after an Emergency Incident

Our schools are ever changing as result of the world around us. Unfortunately, during the course of a school day there may be incidents that take place that have a dramatic emotional impact on both students and staff. These incidents can range from natural disasters, acts of violence or the unexpected death of a member of the school community. Just as it is important that schools remain prepared to deal with issues related to safety; so to must we be vigilant in preparing to take care of the emotional wellbeing of our students in the event that such an incident takes place. In any event it is important for staff to remain calm and rely on the guidance of the central administration and our district's team of guidance professionals. Having a strategic plan helps us to think through possible scenarios and be more equipped to deal when something unexpected occurs.

A. Initial Assessment

After a school contacts the superintendent/assistant superintendent to report that a crisis incident has taken place, it is important that an initial assessment of the incident is made. In consultation with the building leader, the central administrative team will determine the extent of the crisis and the potential scope of individuals impacted by the event.

B. Call for Pupil Personnel Providers

Once it has been determined that the event is a crisis that may have a significant impact on either a small group or the entire school community, the following protocols should be followed:

1. Building principal or lead administrator should contact the Superintendent or one of the Assistant Superintendents.
2. The Assistant Superintendent of Secondary Education, Programs and Policy will reach out to the Coordinator of Psychologist/Social Workers and/or the Coordinator of Guidance to get social workers, psychologists and/or guidance counselors to respond to the school as directed.
3. The Coordinator of Psychologists/Social Workers and the Coordinator of Guidance will send out a mass email or text message asking for respondents. The first five providers from each group to respond will report to the school/office. The Coordinator of Psychologists/Social Workers and the Coordinator of Guidance will follow up with a message to their groups indicating who has responded and inform the group that no other providers are needed at this time.
4. Either the Coordinator of Psychologists/Social Workers or the Coordinator of Guidance will report to the school in order to serve as the Pupil Personnel Services (PPS) lead on-site. That individual will be charged with the following responsibilities:

PPS Lead Responsibilities

- Establish a command center at the school where PPS providers can report, obtain a briefing on the crisis and be given directions for deployment.
- Identify locations for crisis counseling, i.e. library, cafeteria, auditorium, etc. Be mindful that in the midst of a crisis some students may prefer to remain quiet so it may be necessary to designate a quiet place for them.
- Identify staffers who can provide floater support i.e., monitor hallways and common areas looking for students or staff who may be in distress.
- Elementary students will remain in their classrooms with teachers, so if may be necessary for providers to push into those classrooms.
- Facilitate an end of the day debriefing meeting with staff. Share information regarding student concerns, discuss any gaps in service, make a decision on deployment for the following day.
- Make a decision on the on-going composition of the team and decide when it is possible to turn over the command back to the principal. Keep in the mind that the goal is to return to normalcy as quickly as possible.

C. School-based Crisis Team

Remember that the on-site support team is a critical component of managing any crisis. These individuals have intimate knowledge of the building, as well as a first-hand knowledge of students and staff. It is essential to utilize the knowledge of the building-based staff in addressing the crisis.

D. Communications Plan

The Building Principal or Lead Administrator will serve as the building command for managing with the crisis. The Building Command will be responsible for communicating with the PPS Lead to identify areas of need. The Building Command will also be responsible for directing internal and external communication with support from the central office staff. The Building Command should also:

- Develop talking points and ensure that all support staff and security personnel have these points available to them and use them when interfacing with the public.
- Work with the central administration team to develop a strategy for talking to parents. Additionally, ensure that there is bilingual staff available to communicate with parents.
- Direct all media inquiries to the district's public relations firm, Zimmerman/Edelson, Inc.
